

Session E12 – Sarbanes-Oxley and Identity Management

About the Speaker

Ehab Dawoud

Ehab Dawoud is a Director with PricewaterhouseCoopers in the San Francisco Security group and is a leader in the west region for services to the technology and Healthcare industry. He has worked on a domestic and international basis directly providing advisory services to clients to improve their realization of value from investments in information systems; to build enterprise security architecture and systems; and to strengthen information system security controls.

Ehab has performed and led complex, Security system implementation projects, as well as advised numerous companies on developing enterprise architecture framework. These projects have included planning and designing Identity Management solutions, conducting compliance risk assessment, and implementing security controls to key IT components. Other representative security projects Ehab has completed include:

- Assisted a Fortune 50 technology company with a complex enterprise Identity Management implementation project. Specific focus of the project was to implement a global infrastructure to support users across the world in Europe, Asia Pacific, and the Americas.
- Assisted a Fortune 50 technology company with its readiness for and Identity Management solutions and development of associated tactical and strategic roadmap.
- Assisted a Fortune 50 company with the development of its enterprise security architecture and established security program for the next five years. This included the review of key IT components and applications; and evaluation of the future needs and alignment with business direction.

Ehab has an Electrical Engineering degree from the University of Cairo, Egypt.