Session Synopsis

Get ready to go deep. For over 10 years, SF ISACA Chapter member Steve Romero been evangelizing IT governance around the world. He has delivered constantly evolving views and theories in our Fall Conference since 2005. If you attended any of these presentations you have seen him blast through a huge amount of content in 90 minutes. Now we are all getting together to slow it down, catch our breath, and take a deep dive into IT governance.

Yes, as before you will gain a comprehensive understanding of the discipline from the perspectives of the most prominent IT governance authorities, such as ISO/IEEE, ISACA (COBIT5), and MIT's Center for Information Research (CISR). Yes, you'll explore and consider a radical view of IT governance that challenges conventional wisdom while providing an alternative perspective that can change the way an organization looks at IT governance and dramatically increase the potential for realizing incredible business value. Yes, you'll leave with a sound foundation in IT governance and new ideas about the discipline which will continue to provoke thought and consideration upon return to your enterprise.

But now, we'll have time to talk about it.

Steve will follow the latest version of his IT governance presentation with a faciliated discussion of the discipline. Not only will he talk about his experiences in IT governance consulting and practice, he will probe the audience for their experiences, views, and challenges. We'll talk about the challenge of auditing IT governance and the real goal – figure out together how to help your organizations realize the incredible potential and promise of the greatest realizer of information technology value – IT governance.
